Evaluation

Did you achieve the goal of your project?

If your goal and final result are not the same, can you explain why that is?

My goal was not different to the final result

Did something happen you did not prepare for?

No

What will you do differently next time?

I will duplicate my project in other regions, after that we expect to launch a "Parliament of Children for Peace"

Golden activity

Pick the activity that you are most proud of and tell us more about it.

Activity- give us a short summary of how the activity went

I am most proud of the march for peace. Because it was an activity which mobilized 100 children and showcased the engagement and the commitment of children in peace building in Cameroon. Through that activity, children raised their voices their children's rights especially (Right to Life, the right to Health, the right to Education, the right to Protection; the right to enabling Environment for Child Rights) especially those directly affected by conflicts.

Why are you proud of this activity?

I am proud because all the children were fully engaged and succeeded to attract the attention of others stakeholders. The messages displayed during that activity have raised the awareness on the vital role of children in peace building initiatives and the importance to silence the guns for the goodness of children

Result: In what way did your activity help children and youth?

That activity had given courage and audacity to children to believe that it is possible for them to deconstruct the negative perception on them related to peace. And because our national TV show has broadcasted that activity , I am really sure that in coming days , we children and youth will be able to have a space and voice in peace building discussion here in Cameroon

Story of Change

Story of change

Please share a story of change of a child or young person involved in one of your activities. If you have a picture or video of the person this makes the story even more powerful.

- Example 1: A story of change could be about one of the children/youth that helped you in an activity. It tells how and why he or she is fighting for children's rights.
- Example 2: Another story of change could be that of a child or young person who was helped by an activity you organized and it tells how the activity helped/made a change to his or her life.

Jeanne is one of a target child who attended all the activities organized in Yaoundé. Thanks those activities, Jeanne learned how to promote peace in Cameroon, how to stimulate the civic and voluntary engagement of children and young people in her community in peace building efforts. Before that activity, Jeanne was complaining about the state of children's rights. According to her personal testimony, most of her siblings were involved in armed vigilance committees consequently during the night they used to steal and killed people. After the sensitization, she has received tools to raise the awareness of these children against war and violence

Media report

Please make sure you sent images of your project! If you have any quotes, photos, videos, newspaper articles, tv interviews, social media posts, or other cool imagery of you and your project, share it with us. We like to share your actions on the global changemaking platform, so you can reach an even bigger audience and inspire other changemakers.

Please make sure you share your photos as separate (JPG) files. If images/videos are too big to send via email, you can always use <https://wetransfer.com>

Financial report

Fill in the same table as from your plan at the start. However, now you fill in the extra column of the actual amount that you spend per budget line. Do not forget to attach receipts and/or invoices to your report to show us where you spend the money! If the actual costs vary a lot from the proposed costs, please explain the reason.

Description of the costs	Proposed amount	Actual amount in Euro	Notes
Refreshments (for two days : at the opening and closing workshop days)	32 800	50	Due to the limited amount , and the fact that we had 10 more we were obliged to buy rice and cooked it for everybody , rather than offer sandwich to each children as previously planned
